

The Mayrent Institute for Yiddish Culture &
The Max Kade Institute for German-American Studies present

Covid in Context

Health Culture among Yiddish & Pennsylvania Dutch Speakers

A panel discussion featuring

---

Zackary Sholem Berger, M.D.

Associate Professor of Medicine, Johns Hopkins University

Heather Munro

Anthropologist

Mark Loudon

Prof. of Germanic Linguistics & Director of the Max Kade Institute for German-American Studies, University of Wisconsin-Madison

Cara Rock-Singer

Assistant Prof. of Religious Studies, University of Wisconsin-Madison

How do diverse religious groups respond in the face of global pandemic?
This panel will explore how the coronavirus has affected Hasidic Jewish and Plain Anabaptist communities at the global, communal, and individual levels—in English, Yiddish, and Pennsylvania Dutch.

Thursday January 27, 2022

4:00 PM (Central Time)

Via Zoom

To register and receive the Zoom link, please visit:
mayrent.wisc.edu/event/covid-in-context